Grad Travel Funds Resources

A&S -PBC $600 Travel Fund
Travel grants of $600 are available to Dietrich School graduate students who are presenting at conferences and professional meetings. Access the eligibility requirements and application here. Please read the frequently asked questions before contacting the Graduate Studies Office. For questions that are not addressed by these materials, contact Rebecca Roadman prior to travel.

Arts and Sciences Graduate Student Organization Travel Grants
The A&S-GSO sponsors grants for travel to an academic conference to present a paper or a poster, or to participate in an interactive workshop, or to attend a job talk/interview at a conference (for doctoral students only). To be eligible you must be enrolled as a Dietrich School of Arts and Sciences graduate student at the time of your travel. The application is available here: http://stage2016.asqso.pitt.edu/wordpress/wp-content/uploads/2016/08/AS-GSO-Travel-Grant-Application-2017-1.doc A&S-GSO grants require pre-approval.

Graduate and Professional Student Government Travel Grants
GPSG Travel Grants were established in 1993 to provide financial assistance to graduate and professional students at the University of Pittsburgh who are participating in academic or professional conferences. Applicants must currently be enrolled as a student in a graduate or professional program at the University of Pittsburgh. Details are available on the GPSG Web site. GPSG Travel Grants require preapproval.

UCIS -Center for Russian and East European Studies (REES)
REES small grants are open on a rolling basis to all Pitt graduate students working on topics related to our region. Graduate students may apply for up to $250 for domestic or $350 for international travel to conduct research or attend a scholarly conference. Students may apply no more than once per semester; preference will be given to students who have not yet received this money during the given academic year. Applications should be submitted no more than two months in advance of travel and should consist of a one-page letter addressed to Susan Hicks (hyperlink) indicating purpose of requested funds, relationship of project/travel to graduate study, and outline of budget including all additional funds requested and/or secured from other sources.

Tuition Remission Fellowships are awarded by REES on a competitive basis.
UCIS-European Union Center for Excellence (EUCE)/European Studies Center (ESC)

EUCE/ESC offers small grants to Graduate Students to help defray the costs of presenting papers at professional conferences. Applications will be reviewed at the beginning of each month with notification made by mid-month.

World History Center: Graduate Travel Awards

Each academic year the World History Center provides four Graduate Travel Awards of $250. These awards support graduate students in any Pitt department for travel to a professional meeting. The applicant is to demonstrate that participating in the meeting is a contribution to world-historical study. Applications may be submitted at any time to joneskh@pitt.edu. Awards are selected at World History Center Awards Committee meetings in November and March

For the following resources you must be enrolled in the certificate program:

Gender, Sexuality, & Women’s Studies: Student Research Fund

The competition is open to graduate and undergraduate students enrolled at the University of Pittsburgh engaged in research related to the study of women, gender, and/or sexuality. The number of projects funded and the amount of funding vary each year depending on donations to the program. Awards of up to $1000 are made to support travel expenses, secretarial costs, research materials, or other direct costs related to research. Smaller requests may be more likely to be funded. Travel and expenditures must be arranged in advance through the Program. Partial conference funding related to larger research projects (e.g. dissertation work) may be available. Priority will be given to individuals who have not received funding in the past. To be eligible, students must be officially enrolled in the certificate program or in the major and have made progress toward their requirements.

Center for Latin American Studies (CLAS): Travel to Professional Meeting Grant
The maximum amount of a CLAS Travel to Professional Meeting grant is $500. To be eligible for a grant, students must be enrolled in one of the two graduate certificates offered by the Center for Latin American Studies, making progress towards completion, and the paper being presented or the session in which the individual is participating as organizer, discussant, or moderator must deal with the Latin American/Caribbean region. Students can receive up to $500 each academic year.

Global Studies Center: Travel Fund
The Global Studies Center is granting funds for students enrolled in the certificate or BPHIL program, to travel to support presenting at, or attending conferences, workshops or symposium, or for conducting research related to their global focus. The funds are limited to travel in the United States and must be expended by June 30th. The maximum grant amount is $500.00. Because of the limited availability of funds, smaller requests may be more likely to be funded.
